

Tosashimizu, Kochi

41 Left Unseen by Kobo Daishi! A Boat Journey to the Strange Rocks of Minokoshi Kigan Park

Located on Minokoshi Coast along Tatsukushi Bay is Japan's first designated marine park, where strange boulders created from geological formations 15 million years ago dot the beautiful coast. Named Minokoshi ("left unseen") because Kobo Daishi missed out on seeing this scenery, this coastline is difficult to get to even to this day, although it is now possible to get there on a glass-bottomed boat that started operating around 1955. Enjoy a sense of the extraordinary as you journey to the coast in this glass-bottomed boat, and then take a stroll on the pathways weaving through kigan (strangely shaped boulders) for an unforgettable experience.

View Spot

Minokoshi Coast Footpath

Access

Access to the Glass-Bottomed Boat Pier

- Approx. 10 min walk from Tatsukushi bus stop on the Kochi Seinan Kotsu Bus
- Approx. 1 hour by car from Nakamura Station on Tosa Kuroshio Railways
- Approx. 1 hour 40 min by car from Shimantocho-Chuo IC

Inquiries

Tatsukushi Kanko Kisen Glass-bottom Boat

Tel: 0880-85-0037

Address: 19-10 Tatsukushi, Tosashimizu-shi, Kochi

Hours: 8:00 to 17:00

Tatsukushi Kaichu Kanko Glass-bottom Boat

Tel: 0880-85-1155

Address: 4135-2 Misaki, Tosashimizu-shi, Kochi

Hours: 8:30 to 16:30

Shared Info

Fees: Adults: ¥1,560, Children: ¥780

Closed: Open year-round